

pet  connection
for you and your pet

brought to you by  connection

▼ Home ▼ About ▼ Vehicle Reviews ▼ Product Reviews ▼ Reader Forum ▼ Links ▼ Advertise

Kurgo Backseat Barrier

Safe seat serves as a barrier too

Thu, Aug 30th 2007

Reader Forum
click here!

PRODUCT DETAILS
product	backseat barrier
type	crate/carrier
price	$25 to $75
manufacturer	kurgo
rating

Kurgo Backseat Barrier: If your dog loves to jump back and forth between the front and back seats as you speed down the freeway, well, as my daddy used to say, you're cruisin' for a bruusin'. Or worse, a bad wreck in which you and your dog are seriously injured. Do the smart thing and keep him safely confined. If a crate doesn't fit in your back seat, consider using Kurgo's Back Seat Barrier.

It's made of 600-denier nylon with leather trim, and it claims to have a universal fit, making it suitable for any vehicle from a compact to an SUV. The instructions are easy to follow, according to my husband the tech geek, but it does take a little effort. It's probably not something you'll be attaching and taking down on a daily basis - at least, he wouldn't. The good news is that you don't have to. The barrier doesn't get in the way of backseat passengers, and it comes with an extra partition to separate the dog from other canine or human passengers. Hmm, might be good for paring combative siblings, too. The Backseat Barrier comes with accessories that include a trash/treat receptacle, but unless your dogs have more manual dexterity than mine, I don't know that you'll need the CD case. The Back Seat barrier has a suggested retail price of $49.99 and is available at pet retail-supply outlets. Kurgo's toll-free phone number is 877-847-3868.

-- Kim Campbell Thornton

