Strap on a pet seat belt

Just because your pooch is traveling in your vehicle doesn't mean it's safe. In a sudden stop/accident, you, your pet and/or your travelling companions could become seriously injured, which is what the Kurgo Auto Zip Line is designed to prevent. This simple-to-use product consists of a plastic-coated tension cable that attaches at one end to one of your vehicle's grab handles, and a special harness that fits around your pooch at the other. With this system, your canine companion can still sit, sleep or move about the rear seat, but, in a heavy braking situation, will be held in place in a manner similar to regular seat belts for humans. The Auto Zip Line also comes with an adjustable leash that you can use when it's time to take your dog for a walk. Available in small, medium, large and extra-large, it's certainly worth the $45 (plus shipping) investment to protect your four-legged loved one as well as your passengers (including you).
