

If a dog will not come to you after having looked you in the face, you should go home and examine your conscience.

The Best Pet Carriers

Pets have so many wonderful options when it comes to being carried. Slip small pets into a backpack, carry them in a pouch or simply tuck them in an elegant bag. Depending upon the size of your pet and your wallet, there are a variety of choices available to you. When it comes time to tuck them in for the night or give them some respite from the summer sun, then turn to the lightweight and extremely portable Cabana crates and tents.

Skybox Booster Seat

We have all seen drivers with small dogs sitting on their laps, peering out of the driver's window and scampering around the front seat area. While this is probably a fun way to bond with your dog, it clearly can interfere with your driving and easily cause an accident.

The Skybox Booster Seat not only allows your favorite furry co-pilot (up to 30 lbs.) to sit safely right next to you but also lets them relax in an elevated box seat so that they can see just what is going on outside the car. This comfortable padded booster seat is secured to the car's passenger seat so you can easily and safely travel with your pet (comes with an adjustable tether harness clip). The washable padded liner is lightweight and the metal frame supports ensure that your pet will ride comfortably and securely in their new skybox viewing area. Best of all, the seat is easily adjustable and installs quickly — for pets on the go.
