Backseat Bridge

"Not all of us can afford roomy SUVs, and when a German Shepherd Dog is in the backseat of your midsize sedan, he could definitely use some wiggle room. Enter the Backseat Bridge, which is placed in the gap between the front and back seats, allowing your pooch to have more space. In addition to comfort, it also provides safety, as there is a barrier that prevents your dog from jumping into the front seat. It holds up to 100 pounds, so a variety of breeds can relax and enjoy the car ride." — R.K. $49.99, from Kurgo Products; www.kurgo.com
