

First-class trimmings

POSTMEDIA NEWS FEBRUARY 25, 2011

Kurgo is a company dedicated to ensuring that a car ride including a pet can be pleasurable for both human and beast.

The Skybox Booster Seat keeps pets from moving around or sitting in their owners' laps, providing an elevated comfortable bucket that is suspended high on a seat so the animal gets a view of the outside -and can even be in the shotgun seat next to the driver.

The product accommodates a pet weighing up to 13.6 kilograms and features metal supports for structural integrity. Best of all, installing and removing this puppy is easy, as the product is collapsible for simple storage.

The Skybox is just one of many unique devices Kurgo has designed for keeping pets at bay during the commute, and animal lovers may want to take a gander at its website to see other offerings. And, please, as cute as you might imagine a toddler in this contraption, do not -repeat do not - try such unsafe shenanigans.
